JUNCTION

*Penfield High School
Penfield, New York*

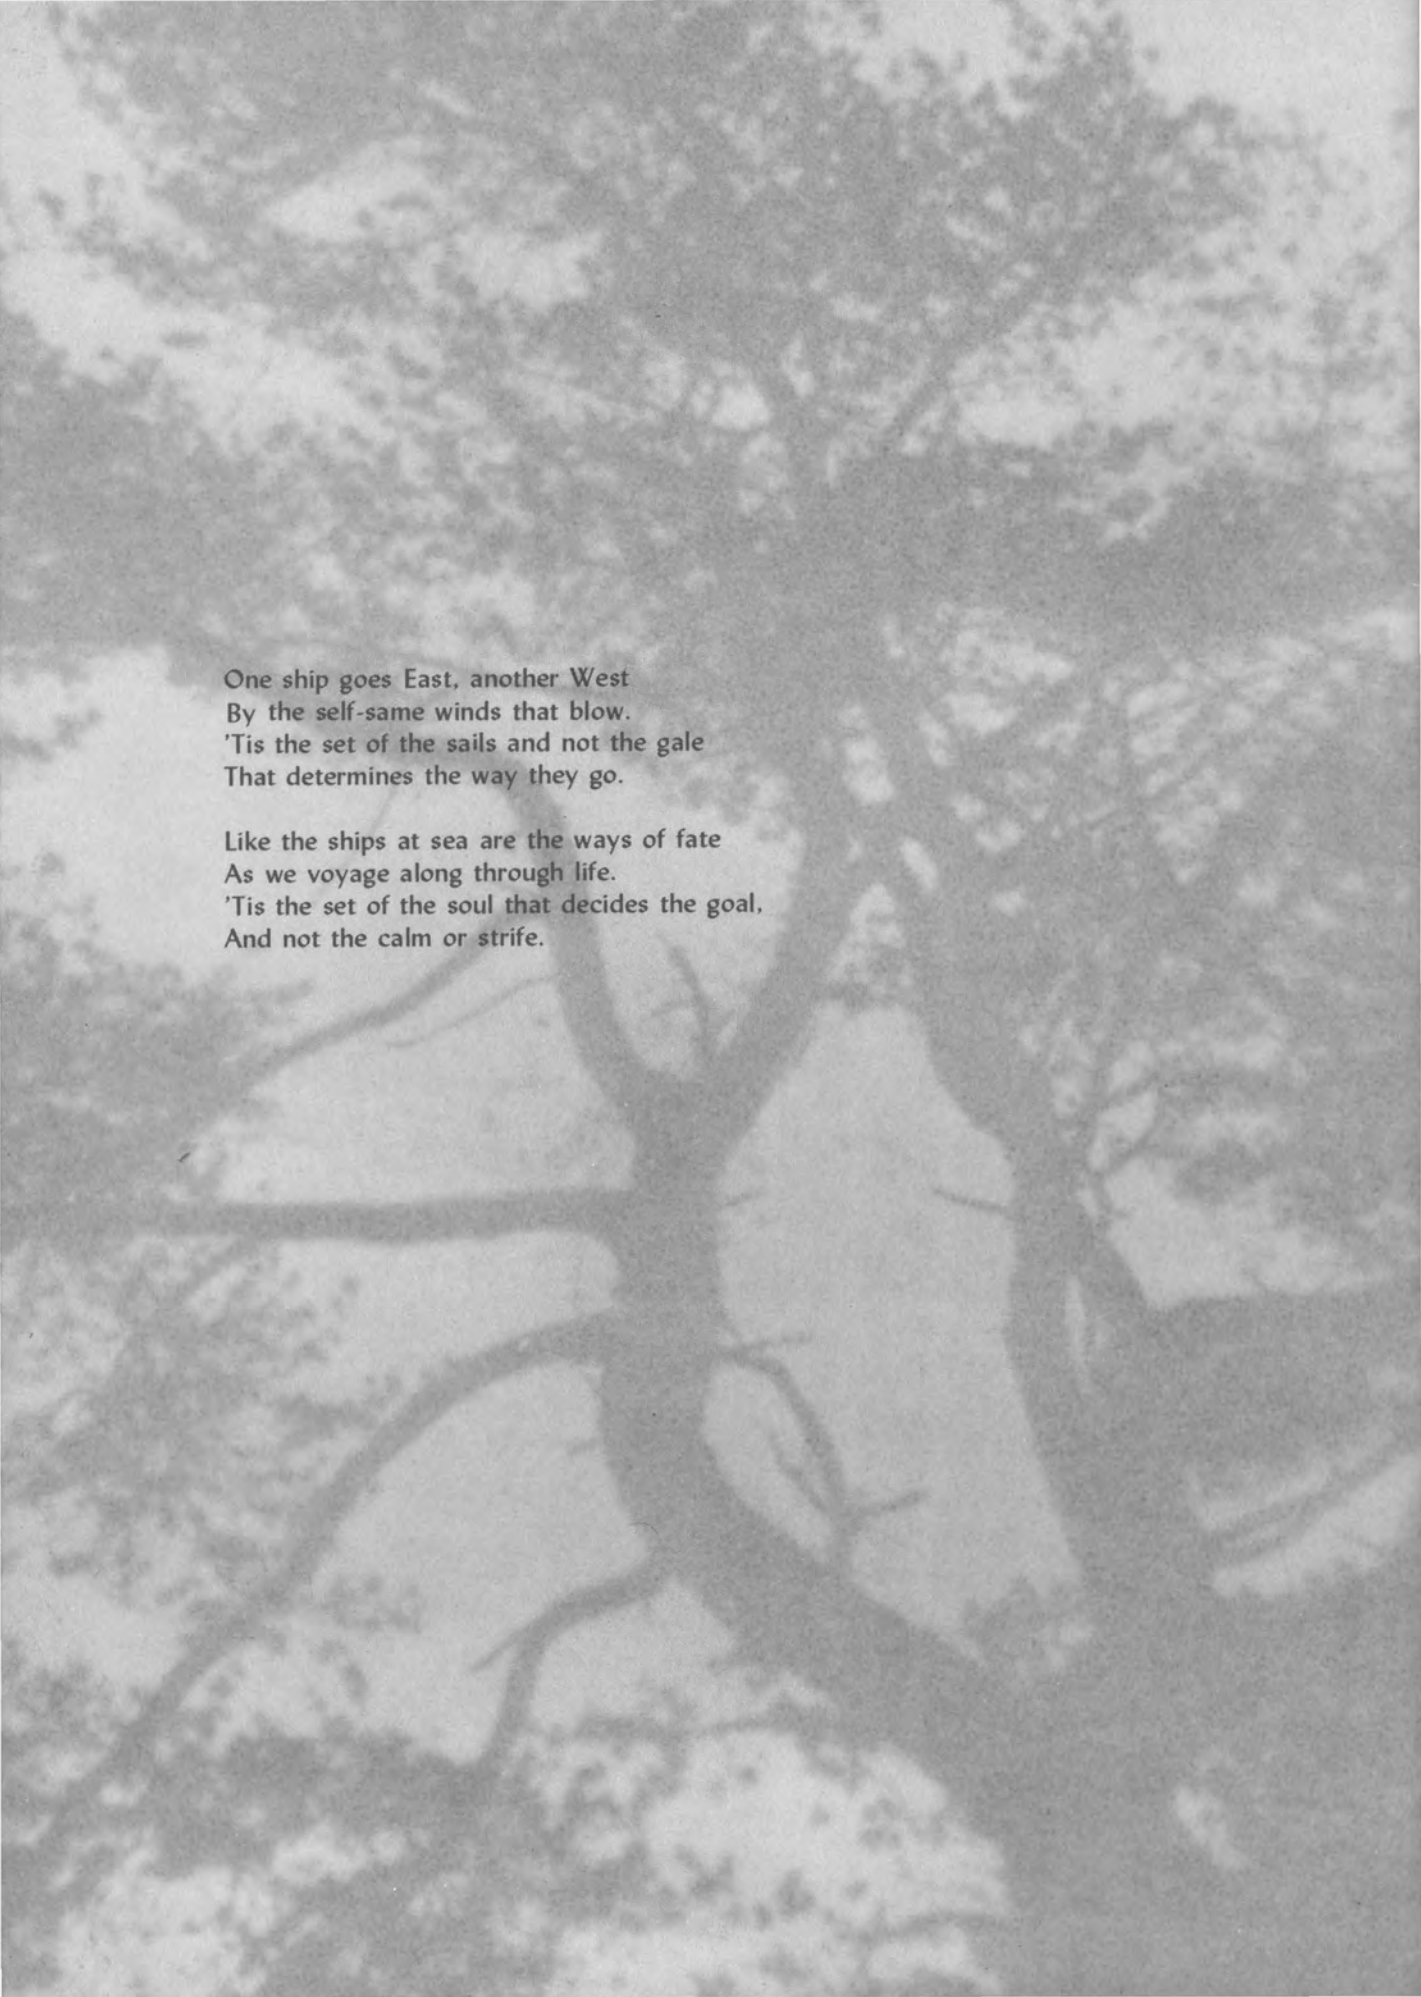

1967

The dedication—
 is a reflection of the student body;
 given with pride to those we are proud of . . .
 Because we know in our minds the endless practices and overwhelming fatigues of our soccer team;
 the demands and standards set by our coach,
 And in our hearts
 the exhilaration of their victories,
 the despair of their defeats,
 and their almost-glory in sectionals;
 Because we want somehow to thank them—Coach and players all—for giving us a new pride in our school, and a very real sense of spirit that comes from being best . . .
 We, the Class of '67, dedicate this year's Junction to Coach Steitz and our 1966–1967 Penfield soccer team.

One ship goes East, another West
By the self-same winds that blow.
'Tis the set of the sails and not the gale
That determines the way they go.

Like the ships at sea are the ways of fate
As we voyage along through life.
'Tis the set of the soul that decides the goal,
And not the calm or strife.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Elmer F. Peck
Superintendent of Schools

Young people have always been concerned with the future, particularly as it relates to their personal goals and accomplishments. In this fastmoving, changing world these concerns become even more important and uncertain.

I hope most of you have already developed some long-range goals toward which you can direct your efforts. I further hope your emphasis will be not on the accumulation of material things, but on ways of helping others to lead a richer, fuller life.

The real deep and lasting satisfactions in life come from using our talents to make more meaningful the lives of those less fortunate.

Elmer F. Peck

Superintendent of Schools

Board of Education

Seated: Mrs. Elizabeth Flory, Vice-President; Mr. John Wilder, President; Mr. Robert Lindsay, Jr. Standing: Mr. James Moser, Mr. David Bush, Dr. Stan Friedman, Mr. William Gamble.

The Board of Education members join me in a wish for the best for you who are moving on from Penfield this year. For whatever path you are taking we hope that your school has provided sound basic training for your future. The opportunities open to you would seem to be almost numberless.

Your school—more than books and buildings—is people, teachers and students like yourselves. Teachers trying to get across ideas and concepts to cause you to make the proper judgements as future problems arise. We hope that our efforts of these few years help you pick the directions which bring you personal success as well as progress for the communities and others with whom you will be associated.

John B. Wilder

Mr. Wallace Howell Principal

The theme direction is most appropriate for the 1967 Junction. It shows that the Class of 1967 really has goals to reach.

Whether we like it or not it determines our future success and happiness if the direction chosen is the correct one, or it may lead to defeat and failure if chosen unwisely.

In this day of computerized existence direction becomes a significant aspect of our daily lives. Up and down traffic on school stairways, one way streets, entrance and exit ramps to our expressways, directional signals on our automobiles, escalators in the stores and shopping centers are but a few examples of the manner in which the right direction guides us.

Adequate preparation for a future life in the professions, the business world, the sports world, or the performing arts is influenced by proper direction of the innate drives inherent in all humans coupled with the acquired drives for "ego satisfaction" which includes the desire for approval, for domination, for social recognition, for attention, for security, or for happiness.

Your future may be patterned after a quotation from Hamlet; "By indirections find directions out" or it can take the opposite tack so aptly portrayed by Stephen Leacock; "Lord Ronald—flung himself upon his horse and rode madly off in all directions." The choice of direction is yours to make. May it be a wise one.

Assistant Principal

TO THE CLASS OF 1967

The Yearbook is a sort of glorified family album. As each of you leaves and follows a different path and direction, I hope that in the years to come you can look back with pride at your Yearbook and remember your high school days with some note of satisfaction. It probably has become old fashioned to say this, but I am sure you will remember them as some of the best years of your life.

"One ship goes east, another west . . ."
 Suddenly the world is so much before us.
 A spirit of freedom nostalgia adventure—
 a little fear

So tightly binds us now.
 These are the last moments of the Class of '67.

The Class of '67—
 Which way are our sails set now?
 Will all the somedays that are today show us the right way—
 the best way?
 Or will we have to choose in our hearts and minds
 Never knowing if the other road was best?
 All we have to guide us now is what we each believe in—a puzzle made with bits and pieces of four long-short years . . .

A kaleidoscope of ideas, happenings . . .
 of people.

Could we have understood as Freshmen
 How close the future would someday be?
 We followed the Sophomores—cheered at basketball games campaigned for football.
 We faced Great Expectations
 (Remember Pip? . . . Remember Estella!)
 with the same candor as Mr. Cook's anemometers and Mrs. Coburn's maps of Africa.
 We took our first Regents in Earth Science and Algebra,
 And turned so suddenly to the security of being Sophomores.

Now we began to rival the upperclassmen—
 Our J.V. boys made Varsity.
 The pieces of our sophomore year slowly began to fit together . . .
 The orchestra travelled to New York . . .
 Diplomat Fairs and Winter Weekends.
 And though we ruined World History; killed A Tale of Two Cities,
 The jagged edges were gradually softening
 To form a picture of us:
 a portrait of the class.

The Junior year was one of testing. . . .
 "Does an I.D. card really matter?"
 "8 demerits with 2 to go!"

How to fail Chemistry without even trying—American, as well.
 "Hey, the median in seventh period was 62!"

As Juniors we were on the brink of leadership.
 We were so earnestly searching for an uncertain goal.
 Was it respect,
 achievement,
 or was it maturity?

We weathered fraternities and sit downs,
 long hair and tight pants,
 To crystallize into Seniors.

All at once we were unwittingly on our way.
 We needed some place to go. . . .
 "Accepted! Already? But it's only December!"
 All our plans and aspirations—
 the trials and achievements—
 Merged in a final crescendo at Commencement.

Now, we each are silhouetted against the whole . . .
 And how do we feel?
 Have all those brief, glowing moments gone from us . . . forever?
 No, the Class of '67 is passing
 But it will never be past.
 In each of us there is something of value resting in a maze of remembrances.
 The Class of '67 will never die because it is you and me and countless dreams.
 And here is the essence of the picture's whole:
 That the Class of '67 has come . . .
 and gone . . .
 and, yet, will always be.

I've a wanderer's lust in my heart have I, and a wanderer's song I sing,
For I long to roam where the mountains rise
And the sound of the echoes ring.
And I ache to race the sea at night along its endless tide,
For there 'neath the silver sweep of stars, my sorrows I can hide.
A wanderer veils his sorrows deep as he walks the winding trail—
Where the rain falls yellow, and the fog melts green, and the sky's a ship with a sail.
But a wanderer's never free, you know, though forever free he may seem,
For he has left his home and his heart behind,
And all he has then is a dream.
So though I yearn to wander still along the dusty road,
With the sun on my back and the sand in my tracks,
And my problems no longer a load,
I can never sway from the path I'm on, though I turn at every bend,
For a wanderer's ship is a ship of dreams, and those dreams must someday end.

To some, being secure in boredom, yet bored with security.

A year of just being comfortable, knowing where you are.

The Sophomore year—

The pieces of four years are slowly fitting together—

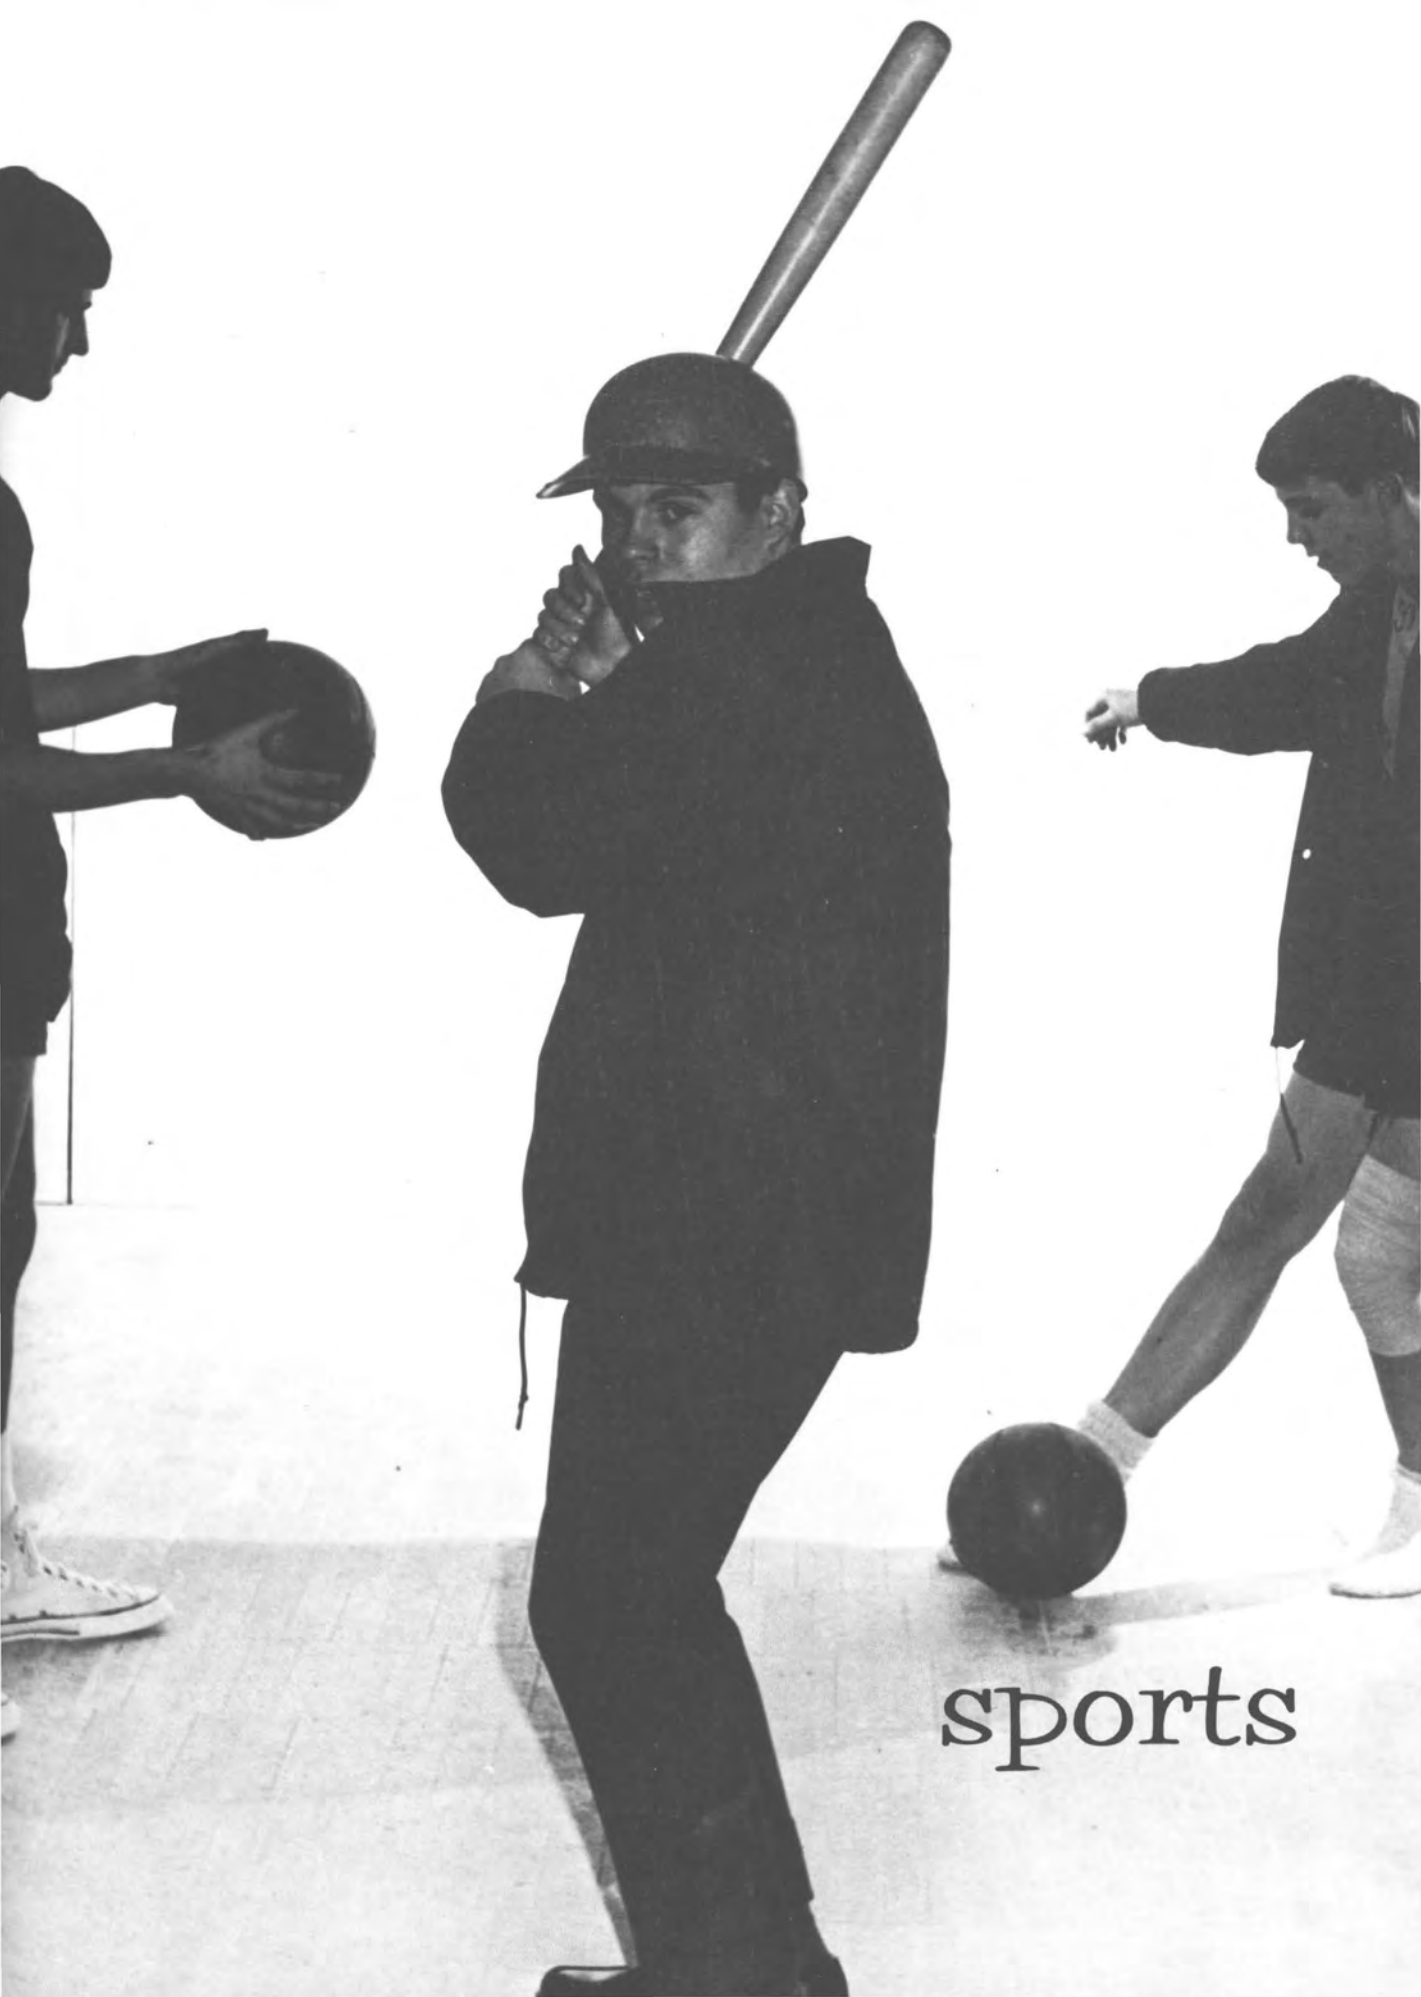

The maze of beanies and lunch lines; Earth Science and French I are gone.

Sophomores are the class ignored by Juniors and chided by Seniors . . .

But they are a class that never ceases to aspire.

"Our team is dynamite!"

Spirit,

Determination,

Drive—the ingredients that made Penfield undefeated.

The quality of the team was reflected in each player—

None settled for less than best.

An unexcelled season for both the J.V. and Varsity Chiefs

Has created challenging heights for next year's team.

cross country

Determination builds up endurance and brings rewarding satisfaction for members of the Cross Country team. Although small, the team placed twelfth out of seventeen in the complete league. Average time was the second best in the last six years. Both Coach Foley and the underclassmen are looking forward to a successful season next fall.

The yearbook—
 a key to fleetingly intangible moments . . .
 How can you count and weigh the measure of this year?
 Through the camera's frozen instants or the printer's jumbled lines?
 No . . . the year is uniquely personal, the shades we feel, only we ourselves have experienced . . .
 the memories
 the pains
 the friendships.
 We are told that this is maturity. But how do you Capture in black and white what the words themselves can not express?
 This is the job of the Junction's staffs—to hold forever something of everything.

Penpointer

The function of a school newspaper—to produce entertainment for the school and headaches for the staff?! Not really, for when the welter of meetings, plannings, deadlines, missing articles, fund-raising projects, proofreading, layouts, and panic-stricken last minute changes is over, comes the greatest satisfaction for the Pen Pointer editors and staff—a near-professional newspaper from a fusion of scribbled articles.

Each year students combine their talents in writing, editing, illustration, and financing their own literary magazine—your Spectrum.

The writing is done by students in all high school levels—a combination of prose, poetry, and illustration.

Yet the real value of Spectrum lies in the experience it offers, as well as, the quality of its work. It is by the students; for the students; about the students of Penfield Senior High.

society*

Belonging to the National Honor Society is a special privilege for students. It is an organization composed of students who are voted on by the faculty, and who meet certain standards of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. The members hold monthly meetings and discuss projects such as the club's participation in the Diplomat Fair. Besides being a privilege, membership in N.H.S. is both an enjoyable and beneficial experience.

Track

Track Team members

First row: L. Naylor, J. Irving, J. Stevens, J. Steinhilper, D. Zefting, Y. Gebremariam, M. Humphrey, D. Gay, N. Costello. Second row: G. Perucki, B. Wallace, J. Englehardt, A. Healy, T. Baxter, Coach Foley, D. Frank, B. Amey, R. Heil, G. Robinson, D. Kearney. Third row: D. Ornt, K. Jordan, D. Sanderson, B. Gisinger, L. Stavalone, D. Englehardt, G. Myers, L. Rotach, S. Teague, D. Pensgen. Fourth row: G. Bieber, H. Ralston, D. Taylor, B. Monks, A. Weber, J. Scribner, D. Luke, B. Acheson, B. Donroe, R. Johnson.

Pounding the dust, our track team made an outstanding showing this year. Several home meets were well attended and the spirit of the spectators fired the members of the team. From the individual medley to the mile runners, credit is well deserved.

Teen Age Citizens

B. Jendron, S. Groet, M. Hastings, M. Brooks, S. Smeltzer, C. Dale.

Varsity Baseball

From the gritting-glare of the sun, the baseball team emerged undaunted for a successful season. Carried by the pitching power, our boys slammed through rivals such as East Rochester to afix Penfield's status as an all-sport school.

J.V. Baseball

Tennis

I. Heikkila, T. Weniger, J. Bloom, S. Samuels, J. Bodensick

The first year for Penfield leadership in tennis was partly a result of the doubles team of Ted Weniger and Ismo Heikkila. The quality of the junior members of the team promises an equally outstanding season next year. Penfield's own courts played host to some tensely-exciting tournaments.

Golf

The golf team's season held more promise of future gains than actual headlines. Yet more than other sports, golf requires a fine degree of skill, extensive practice, and good sportsmanship. Much of the work was individual, and in spite of this, our boys played competently.

education—your investment in the future

Getting an education is one of the most important projects you'll ever tackle. In fact, the education you obtain now will help you throughout your life, no matter what type of work you choose or wherever you go.

Today, your education doesn't need to end when you leave high school or college. There are lifelong opportunities to learn: on-the-job training, adult education classes at night school, and special training programs sponsored by industry are only a few of the many means by which you can continue to improve yourself.

So, the opportunities to learn are there. But, it's up to you to make the best of them. Your education holds the key to the years ahead, and whatever investment you make in education will probably pay off in a better job and a brighter future.

Courage to risk

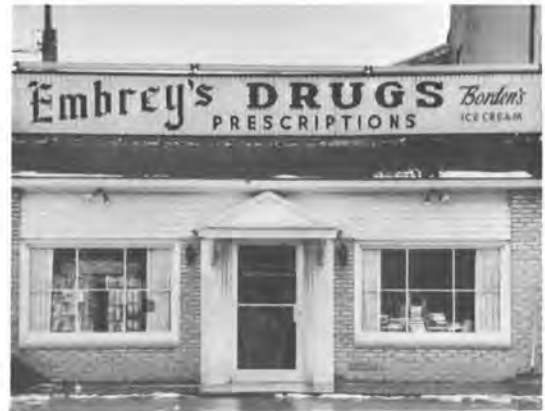

There is, in Xerox, a character which gives it a high potentiality to do, to accomplish.

Call it esprit—call it enthusiasm—call it willingness to change, to create, to innovate. Call it what you will . . . it is born of the knowledge that great opportunities are given to those who are willing to take advantage of the new, but are willing also to accept great risk in doing so.

At Xerox, we have deliberately sought to attract those who are inspired by these qualities.
